Reduce costs, boost accuracy of business transactions

Stay focused on your core business instead of the technical intricacies of transaction processing. Let DXC handle your e-commerce needs expertly, securely, and with predictable costs.

Insights

- Manufacturers contend with diverse transaction formats and varying levels of automation among trading partners
- Compliance with complex security and privacy mandates has become more challenging
- Secure DXC-managed services optimize cash flow, improve transaction accuracy and delivery, and offer secure backup support

As a manufacturer, you deal with numerous trading partners using diverse proprietary and standard formats for transactions. That means a wide variety of transport mechanisms spanning multiple levels of automation. Plus, your partners have disparate systems ranging from high-volume processing mainframes to stand-alone workstations. Keeping up with this dynamic trading partner community is hard enough. But you also have to comply with increasingly complex security and privacy mandates.

Let DXC Business Exchange Services ease your burden. We can efficiently process the exchange of business documents between you and your entire trading community through a managed service model.

Improve compliance, efficiency, and transaction speed

Outsourcing the management of business transactions to DXC lets you focus on core activities instead of spending time and money on technical issues. It also delivers the following benefits:

- Improves trading partner relationships
- Optimizes cash flow
- Increases transaction accuracy
- Ensures timely transaction delivery
- Enhances flexibility
- Ensures industry compliance

Ably satisfy e-commerce needs

DXC Business Exchange Services provides a suite of offerings informed by solid manufacturing industry knowledge. They address all your e-commerce needs, including:

- Connectivity via value-added networks, Internet, telephone networks, and other communications
- Translation (standard and proprietary formats)
- Media conversion (between ASCII and fax/paper)
- Extended archiving
- Trading community management
- Trading partner supply chain software and services

“DXC...ensures effective e-business communications between Gates Europe Operations and its global digital trading partner community. [DXC Business Exchange Services] ... has dramatically improved Gates’ business processes with clients, positioning Gates Europe to further roll out its e-business communication strategy.”

Tap vast industry knowledge

DXC brings more than 20 years of experience providing e-commerce-related services to the manufacturing industry. We serve clients in the automotive, high technology, and consumer products sectors. In fact, the manufacturing industry represents a good 25% of our business exchange revenue. These services help you make products faster, better, and at a lower cost to stay competitive in the marketplace.

Simplify with one secure resource

DXC Business Exchange Services spans multiple capabilities that address all your e-commerce needs. Our transaction related services range from connectivity, translation, and media conversion to extended archiving. We also offer trading partner automation services. These help smaller, less technologically advanced trading partners become e-commerce compliant.

Save the day if disaster strikes

Rest assured—the DXC infrastructure offers the utmost in site and data security with built-in redundancies. Our multiple-site, disaster recovery network provides proven backup support. In the event of a disaster, it protects and redirects your transactions.
