Simplify e-commerce compliance

Optimize the effectiveness of your electronic trading community; let DXC Technology Business Exchange Community manage the e-commerce compliance of your trading partners. This frees you from dealing with technical issues, enabling you to focus on your business relationship with trading partners.

Get a single resource

Gain a variety of capabilities that address all your e-commerce needs with DXC Technology Business Exchange Services. Our transaction-related services range from connectivity, translation, and media conversion to extended archiving. We also offer trading partner automation services, which enable smaller, less technologically advanced trading partners to be e-commerce compliant.

Meet electronic data interchange compliance goals

Get standardized processes proven to be effective for pursuit, test, and cutover of trading partner e-commerce systems with the DXC Technology Business Exchange Community e-commerce testing team. They work with you to tailor these processes to your business, then execute the processes.

Educate trading partners

Our trading partner conferences are a favored method for educating trading partners on standards, requirements, and business practices. Trading partners have an opportunity to receive timely informational materials and ask questions and obtain answers in an informal setting. What they take away from these conferences is a clear understanding of your expectations.

Gain a single source

E-commerce problems can be resolved more easily when trading partners have one number to dial. Our help desk researches all problems from beginning to end. All calls are logged in a call-tracking system, which enables you to determine if e-commerce problems exist in a particular area.

Rely on a proven partner

Enhance the effectiveness and compliance of your trading community with confidence when you rely on the DXC Technology Business Exchange Community:
